Be like servants who await their master's return from a wedding.

LUKE 12:35

CHANGES TO BE MADE

Last Sunday's "Parable of the rich fool" delivered a compelling reason to do the right thing—now: "You fool, this night your life will be demanded of you." Today, Jesus warns us: "You also must be prepared, for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man will come." Though we do not know when our Master will come, we do know what our Master expects to find. Jesus expects us to be vigilant and diligent in our work for the kingdom, but also filled with reverent mercy toward our fellow servants and ourselves. What changes do I need to make, right now, so that the many people outside "the Master's house" will want to come inside to experience the healing comfort of Jesus' own mercy in the compassion of Jesus' modern-day disciples?

VIGILANCE

Today Jesus proposes an attitude universally countercultural: vigilance. Whatever our other differences, we moderns dread delay; we hate to wait! All three readings call us to faith-filled vigilance, "focused" waiting, holy patience. In communion with our ancestors across the centuries—those to whom Wisdom and Hebrews were addressed—we, recalling the Rich Fool's sudden demise, must work, witness, and worship in this world with our hearts set on the future that God has prepared for us, the fulfillment of bold and beautiful promises: deliverance from threats without and burdens within, a heavenly homeland, a city yet to come. Well might all of us called to spiritual vigilance also spare a thought for those who work while others sleep—police, firefighters, first responders—making our own the night prayer attributed to Saint Augustine: "Keep watch, dear Lord, with those who wake, or watch, or weep tonight, and give your angels and saints charge over those who sleep. Tend your sick ones, O Lord Christ, give rest to the weary, bless the dying, soothe the suffering, pity the afflicted, shield the joyous; and all for your love's sake. Amen."

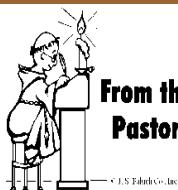

DILIGENCE

Our watchfulness is to be not only prayerful but service-oriented, that active-contemplative balance so often proposed by Luke's Jesus. Though ignorance of the master's wishes may win some a reprieve, Jesus presumes that we who are listening to him now will not qualify for such mitigation. Using Luke's favorite image of table fellowship, Jesus depicts the master "girding" himself, just as the disciples have been told to do, and serving the servants who persevered in their service of watching and working. How often we brush off a thank-you from others by saying, "It was the least I could do!" And, sadly, how often we do the least we can! But true discipleship, in Luke's perspective, is not settling for the least we can get away with until our master's return, but getting ready by always being ready for his kingdom to come.

TODAY'S READINGS

Wisdom 18:6–9
Psalm 33:1, 12, 18–19, 20–22
Hebrews 11:1–2, 8–19 [1–2, 8–12]
Luke 12:32–48 [35–40]

A Note From The Pastor

My Dear Parishioners,

I am not with you this weekend because I am in Pittsburgh celebrating the wedding of my niece. I am very grateful to our weekend priests for allowing me this opportunity to celebrate with my family.

I received news this week that the tendon that connects my kneecap to my quadriceps muscle has been completely severed. I will have surgery on it this week. Thank you for your prayers.

Next week our Second collection will be for the Catholic University of America in Washington D.C. Archbishop Perez has asked that the following letter be communicated to each of the parishes in preparation for this collection.

God Bless You! Fr. Bordonaro

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Please consider making a generous gift to the upcoming second collection in support of The Catholic University of America. It was founded by a pontifical charter in 1887 as the research university of the Church in the United States and has a long tradition of dedicated service to Catholicism in our country.

Through its 12 schools, 32 research facilities, and more than 250 academic programs, the University community works tirelessly on behalf of its 5,700 undergraduate and graduate students. Under the guidance of its new President, Peter K. Kilpatrick, Ph.D., it will educate them to serve the Church and nation as the Catholic leaders of tomorrow.

Your gift to this special collection, the only national collection taken for Catholic higher education in our country, will not only go to support students in this critical time but also helps the University better serve dioceses and parishes through innovative research and training programs. One such initiative is The Catholic Project, which brings together clergy and laity to address the myriad of challenges facing the Church in the United States. Overall, the University contributes superior education, formation, research, a Master's program in Ecclesial Administration and Management, and a credentialing program that prepares recent graduates to serve as campus ministers.

The University's benefactors are critical to both a successful academic year and to all the important work that it does on behalf of the Church and the faithful in our country. If you are able, please make a contribution to the mission of the Catholic University of America, either directly at your parish or online through their dedicated site on the #givecatholictogether platform. Please be generous in supporting this important collection. Please pray for me and be assured of a remembrance in my prayers.

Sincerely in Christ,

+Most Reverend Nelson J. Pérez, D.D.
Archbishop of Philadelphia

Reflect on the Reading FAITH

Our readings today explore how faith begins and how faith works. Faith begins with God's initiative of love, together with God's promise about the future. The passage from Hebrews urges readers to have an assured confidence in God, who promised and delivered a lasting legacy to Abraham. The book of Wisdom reminds readers of the God who promised and delivered freedom from slavery during the Exodus. In the Gospel passage from Luke, Jesus begins with the promise that "your Father is pleased to give you the Kingdom," before describing how to live faithfully during times when God seems absent. God's promises mean that God is fully invested in our future. Living in these promises, we can confidently let go of fear and insecurity. We can anticipate that when God intervenes in our lives, it will be for our benefit. And we can become God's partners in fulfilling these divine promises.

Treasures from Our Tradition

The wonderful diversity of life and worship among Roman Catholics of East and West is an example of God writing straight with crooked lines. The steady hand of the villainous Emperor Diocletian drew a line across Europe and Africa that split the empire in two, and for the most part determined how Christians would worship two thousand years later.

Italy's heel and the far northern city of Trieste fell on the Eastern side, and have had a form of Eastern liturgy ever since. Constantinople, which soon became the seat of the Roman Empire, became a base for Christianizing the East up to Russia and Poland. Poland was on the Eastern side, but a series of wars and medieval mayhem pushed the religious boundary back to the Ukraine, and Poland remains an outpost of the Latin Church to this day.

An old rule of thumb declared that whatever religion was observed by the local prince, the people had to follow. This gave rise to persecution and migration as people sought toleration for their expressions of faith. In the United States, we are accustomed to peaceful collaboration among Christians of East and West, a situation that challenges churches that still feel the pinch of age-old division.

This week I had the wonderful opportunity to meet with other elementary school principals from across the Archdiocese of Philadelphia. Archbishop Perez spoke at length about the Church as a community of missionary disciples. He spoke about five important points that make this so. Missionary disciples:

1. Take Initiative and are not simply reacting to the world around them.
2. Are engaged and rooted in the world around them where they can bring the message of Christ to others.
3. Meet people where they are and accompany them on the journey to know Christ better.
4. Are oriented toward being fruitful – to having positive ambition.
5. Set a tone of positivity as one who shares the Good News.

Because our school is an extension of our parish, working toward building missionary disciples is part of our responsibility and reflected in our mission statement:

"St. Joseph/St. Robert School Community, with Jesus as our foundation, inspires us to live fully His message of love, courage, and compassion. Our academic rigor and relevance empower us to be contributing members of the Church and the global community."

I continue to count the days until school begins at the end of this month!

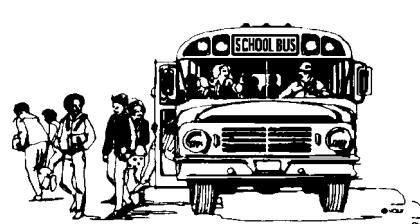

Sincerely,
 Mrs. Durkin
