GROUNDING IN REALITY

If you look up the origins of the word “humility,” you will find that it is related to humus, dirt or earth. Gardeners and farmers know that it is a particularly rich kind of soil, composed by the decay of leaves and other organic material that has fallen on it. Too often we misunderstand it to mean not accepting compliments, relentlessly putting ourselves down, failing to accept our gifts in a positive way. None of this carries with it the meaning of being grounded in reality. Both our limits and our abilities, our grace and even our sin fall upon our lives to enrich us. In their different ways, Sirach and Jesus tell us to accept our lives, to be aware of who we are. Rather than presuming we deserve a higher-up place at the table, we ought to wait to be called to our rightful place, to be blessed with the joy of the righteous.

WHAT HUMILITY IS NOT

It's easy to feel surrounded in our world. We have numerous technological means through which we can receive information (much of it put into circulation unfiltered). Ben Sira, author of the first reading, was in a similar situation: Israel was surrounded by much Greek philosophy and culture in addition to that of their Near-Eastern neighbors and their own. Hard to filter all that out and maintain their grounding in the covenant with God. However, Ben Sira manages to do that much-needed filtering for them, warning his students about pride (the sin of Eden). He promotes humility instead. It is an attitude of courtesy and respect to others, and not a mode of self-abasement. Rather, it refers to an awareness of one's role in the world, offering appropriate respect always, deference only when called for, arrogance never. The mercy of God comes from this humility.

HOW TO BE HUMBLE

Ben Sira concludes that the ears listening to wisdom will rejoice. Jesus has such wisdom to offer today on the topic of humility. Those who hold position or riches would normally presume they were assured a good seat at the table. They are told “step back.” Instead, in the spirit of Ben Sira's lesson on humility, they ought to wait to be invited up. Those schooled in the writings of Ben Sira may have nodded in agreement. Jesus then rips up the etiquette book. Do not to invite family and friends to your table, Jesus says, but welcome those who have no status, those who cannot repay you. In this way, Jesus makes the poor and outcast the ones who actually are able to exalt the humble. Luke's world was as polytheistic and multicultural as Ben Sira's, with plenty of outsiders and unclean folks to go around. Welcome these first, Jesus says, quite literally turning the table on his listeners!

A Note From The Pastor

My Dear Parishioners,

Now is the time to think about adults who might be interested in learning more about our faith. If you know someone who you think might be interested, please have them give me a call. The RCIA or Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults is a program offered by the church to instruct those who are not of our faith. In addition, we have combined these classes with those adults who may have been baptized in the Catholic faith, but never completed their catechesis. We are always looking for new team members willing to share their faith and walk with others on their journey. If you can help us, please contact me.

I recently heard from Mr. Butros Qumsaya, the liaison for the Terra Sancta Travel Company which is hosting our parish trip to the Holy Land in the fall. The trip was scheduled for Sunday Nov. 6th thru Thursday Nov. 17th. He was contacted by the airlines and notified that the flight leaving on Sunday has been cancelled. He has rebooked our trip on a flight leaving instead on Saturday, Nov. 5th, one day earlier. This, of course extends our trip by another day and another night in a hotel. Butros informed me that they will still honor the original discounted price of the trip. For the same amount of money we extended our trip one day and we can decide if we want them to plan something for us to do, or just take it as a free day. I hope this change does not cause anyone a serious inconvenience. I am really looking forward to this trip. Butros will be contacting all those who registered for the trip individually.

Next week our second collection will be for the Black and Indian missions. Archbishop Pérez has asked that the following letter be communicated to all the parishes.

God Bless you, Fr. Bordonaro

September 2022

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

Thank you for your generous support of the Annual Black and Indian Missions Collection! Established as the first National Collection for the Catholic Church in the United States in 1874, it has proven a successful vehicle for sharing resources to provide for the unique pastoral and temporal needs of our African American, Native American, and Alaskan Native brothers and sisters within the context of the cultures.

This Collection clearly embodies Pope Francis' call for each of us to evangelize and work as a family to share the Love, Faith, and Hope of Jesus Christ. As we embark on another year of evangelization in the African American, Native American and Alaskan Native communities, everyone is encouraged to make a difference by offering their prayers and financial support for these missions.

Your support provides for the presence of missionaries who work tirelessly for the Lord in African American, Native American, and Alaskan Native parishes, schools, and religious education programs, as well as many diocesan level programs designed to bring the Gospel to these communities. Your partnership places Bibles and catechetical materials in the hands of priests, consecrated men and women, and lay leaders. Your sacrifice positively impacts pastoral work across the country and addresses the need to train catechists, permanent deacons, and seminarians for service in these missions now and into the future.

Please consider making a gift to the National Black and Indian Mission Collection to support evangelization efforts for African American, Native American and Alaskan Native communities in the United States. You can learn more about this important work at www.blackandindianmission.org.

Thank you again and may God bless you.

Reflect on the Reading HUMILITY

Today's readings praise the virtue of humility and offer concrete ways for us to become more humble. The Book of Sirach suggests a practical reason for acting with humility: humble people are more likeable than the arrogant. Even God "finds favor" with those who humble themselves. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus provides real-world suggestions for growing in humility and teaches us never to assume we are better than others. His words change our outward behavior and expand our hearts and minds to care about people we might have dismissed before. This practical, almost "folksy" wisdom about humility helps us behave better in daily life and makes our lofty goal of eternal life more accessible. Our reading from Hebrews affirms that heaven is indeed approachable. The personal love and sacrifice of Jesus have opened "the city of the living God" to us. Humility prepares us for paradise. Treasures from Our Tradition

The readings today center on mindfulness, awareness of where we stand in God's plan. The mountain of Sinai carries a message of the majesty and distance of God, while Jesus' presence as host of the banquet speaks of intimacy and mystery. September's shadow calls us all to mindfulness as we prepare to return to life outside of summer. The Christian life holds these two places of knowledge of God in careful balance. Even in the accounts of the Passion we see the table of the upper room in balance with the Mount of Olives.

Altar means "high place," yet it is also a table. The former liturgy of the Latin Rite began with the priest bowing at the foot of the altar's three steps, chanting Introibo ad altare Dei, or "I will go to the altar of God," followed by the altar servers' response, "The God who gives joy to my youth." Many parishioners can recall and recite this scene by heart. As with so many things in liturgy, there are layers of meaning in our worship. The altar table evokes memories of the high places once reserved for encounter with the holy, and the intimacy of the table where hospitality draws us to share food and drink. —James Field, Copyright © J. S. Paluch Co.

What an exciting week! The faculty and staff met for our annual Organizational Day and we had two days of training. One training session was about a program that we're using for the first time this year called iReady. iReady is an online diagnostic and teaching tool so that faculty can gather data to further individualize instruction for each student in both reading and math. The funds to purchase the iReady program came from those of you who donated to us last year through #iGiveCatholic on the day after Cyber Monday. So, as we begin our new school year we are thinking about and praying in thanksgiving for your generosity. Thank you!

We are looking for someone who can assist with our after-school program, CARES, in September and October. We are fully staffed after that. If you have availability for a few hours after school and are interested, please call me at 215-343-5100.

As we continue to put the finishing touches on classrooms and lesson plans, please know that the parishioners of St. Joseph and St. Robert parishes are in our prayers.

God bless you and have a wonderful week!
